<sup>3</sup> The Workers Rehabilitation and Compensation Amendment Act 2000 established a minimum amount of weekly compensation at 70% of Basic Salary.

<sup>4</sup> Workers' maximum entitlement for weekly payments of compensation for injuries suffered prior to 16 August 1995.

<sup>5</sup> Workers' maximum entitlement to lump sum compensation for permanent single injury or loss for injuries suffered prior to 1 July 2001.

<sup>7</sup> Table of Maims replaced by Impairment Guidelines from 1 July 2001. Workers' maximum entitlement to lump sum compensation for permanent impairment resulting from injuries suffered on or after 1 July 2001 set at 369 Units.

<sup>8</sup> Workers' maximum entitlement to lump sum compensation for permanent multiple injuries or loss under Table of Maims for injuries suffered prior to 1 July 2001.
